Hunting for hornets: WSDA's eradication story

Cassie Cichorz

Washington State DA

Join the Washington State Department of Agriculture (WSDA) and follow their hornet response. Communications navigated a media frenzy and unprecedented public interest in the viral murder hornet. Research and innovative operations proved crucial in locating and tracking hornets. Outreach efforts created multiple public campaigns. Learn how public-private collaboration, with a massive workload, supported a successful eradication of northern giant hornet in Washington state.
